

Coziness

What would Offroad be without some coziness. Be it a glass of whiskey, a crate of beer or a hot wine punch after a day long drive in addition to cooking and roasting. This encourages campfire talks, visions and other palaver. So far so good; at least as long as the weather is fine and the necessary equipment (chairs, table, grill) is ready. But what about with brass monkey weather? Absolutely right, the best is to choose a nearby restaurant and order a pizza – if available. But to eat pizzas for a couple of days in a row is no fun either.

Well, for such cases I have my 'in-house' Saloon. As I have left enough space inside my Zebra, up to three persons can sit around my expandable table in a pinch. Admittadly, it is somewhat squeezed but nevertheless cozy. I can drink a coffee or a glass of wine or playing cards with my friends.

And if nothing else comes to my mind, I can still watch the latest local news on TV (TVB-T) or listen to songs and news of home (shortwave radio) when far away from Switzerland. Sometimes I feel also good just listening to some Swiss German comments.
